

JASPER COURIER.

JASPER:
FRIDAY, JANUARY 29, 1875.

Nearly every one has a bad cold.
Recorder Jutt has moved to the residence he bought of Dr. Welman.

Dr. De Caux is still holding forth in Jasper.

Mr. W. Capehart is in Pike county this week on real estate business for the firm of Doane & Capehart.

Friedman & Bros. are busy this week getting out the timbers for two fatboats which they have contracted to build.

FRESH OVSTRA.—Joe. Troxler is receiving fresh oysters of the best brands every week, and those who miss trying them are missing a treat.

PREACHING.—Rev. O. P. Galloway will preach in the M. E. Church on the fifth Sabbath in January. The public are invited.

Land buyers will do well to notice the advertisement in this paper of Mrs. Brace, of Haysville. The land to be sold by her is a very desirable tract, and well located.

DIED.—At his residence in Harrison township, Dubois county, on Saturday, Jan. 23d, 1875, Mr. GEORGE L. NEIKAM. He was one of our oldest and most respected citizens, and his loss will be deeply felt. His family have the universal sympathy of their neighbors. H. M.

Capt. Peckinpaugh has gone to Petersburg, to prosecute men charged with destroying McCarty's saloon in Otwell. A relative of his was in the scrape, and has turned State's evidence, we are informed.

Nearly every one is asking what the prospects are for the building of the railroad. We have no doubt the Rockport road will be completed as far as Jasper early this Summer, but we have heard no reliable news worth telling lately.

The death is announced of the father of Judge O. M. Welborn, of Princeton, aged sixty-two years. He was a native of North Carolina, and had resided in Montgomery township, Gibson county, for the past forty years, at which place he died. He was universally respected.

PROLIFIC.—We received a call this week from Mr. Bernhard Henke, one of our oldest German citizens. He will be 74 years old next month, and his wife has just blessed him with another heir. He has been married four times, and is the father of twenty-five children—twenty girls and five boys—fourteen of whom are living. This last heir is the eleventh with his present wife, and he is just as proud of it as he was of his first, and as he expects to be of the next one.

VOL. 17.—With this No. we begin Vol. 17 of the Courier, and will endeavor to make it equal to the past volumes, if not a little better—though we believe the Courier has given a pretty fair history of all events occurring in the county the past year, besides a good deal of general news and miscellany. But we would like to have a few more subscribers, and if every one who wants to see a better paper here will exert themselves a little, and send us the result of their labors, we will have, and will endeavor to repay them. We would also like to enlarge the number of correspondents of the Courier, so that it might contain every thing of interest happening in any neighborhood in the county. What say you ladies and gentlemen?

In The Phrenological Journal and Life Illustrated for February the reader finds an unusual combination of timely and edifying topics. Among those which must please are: Jean Ingelow; Some Thoughts about the Clergy; Signs of Character; Thomas Whittaker, the English Reformer; The Key to Womanhood; Jane Hadley, a story of woman's courage; Hasbands and Wives; Ezra Cornell; Greeley, Colorado; Prevention of Insanity; The Emotions of Savage and Civilized Man; The Worth of Knowledge; Uncle Dave; Legs and what they Mean; Mental Development and Religious Character; Treatment of Wounds and Blisters; etc. The report of the Closing Exercises of the late Course of Lectures on Phrenology and Physiology will receive consideration. An admirable number. Price 30 cents, or $3 for the year. Address S. R. WELLS, 289 Broadway, New York.

Hon. Jos. E. McDonald was elected U. S. Senator last week, and accepted the position upon a set of resolutions reiterating the last Democratic State platform upon the subject of finances—in favor of enlarging the volume of currency to meet the wants of the people. The following extract from the proceedings of the caucus shows how it was done:

At half past nine, Senator Bell moved that the caucus proceed to nominate a candidate for United States Senator, which motion prevailed, and an awful silence followed for a moment, as if each side feared to begin the fight. This was broken by Senator Slater offering for adoption the following resolutions: "1. We are in favor of the redemption of the five-twenty bonds in greenbacks, according to the law under which they were issued. "2. We are in favor of the repeal of the law of March, 1869, which assumed to construe the law so as to make such bonds payable exclusively in gold. "3. We are in favor of the repeal of the National Banking Law, and the substitution of greenbacks for National Bank currency. "4. We are in favor of a return to specie payment as soon as the business interest of the country will permit. "5. We are in favor of such legislation from time to time as will adjust the volume of currency to the commercial and industrial wants of the country." Senator Smith moved to lay the resolutions on the table. After some debate this motion was withdrawn at the suggestion of Judge Davis, and the resolutions were adopted unanimously. This was a masterly move of the Holman men and Voorhees' friends, who, feeling that they could not win, resolved to make McDonald stand upon the Voorhees platform.

THE NURSERY.—The Nursery for February has been received. It maintains its high character as the best small child's magazine published in America. $1.60 a year postage paid. Address John L. Shorey, 36 Bromfield street, Boston.

LETTER FROM LUDLOW.

MR. EDITOR:—In accordance with request, I send you a few items, and promise more as I can get them another time.

—Divine Providence has been transplanting a considerable number of our cherished buds of humanity—innocent infants—to the spirit land, and weeping and mourning is heard in many families. Many old persons, also, have died this winter. The infant child of Mr. W. R. Davis died yesterday and was buried to-day.

—There is more sickness in our neighborhood this season than in the same time for several years.

—The M. E. quarterly meeting passed off pleasantly. Our P. E. was in excellent health and preached with his usual fervor. There is not much religious excitement in our community however, this being, I am fearful, a stiff-necked generation.

—Politics are quiet, so still that you hear nothing of it, unless some one mentions Louisiana, or the United States Senatorship.

—Our farmers are moving for the market, with their bacon and lard, and the road to New Albany and Louisville hears the creaking of their heavily laden wagons, and the curses of the drivers, as the teams get stalled in some one of the many mud-holes, and the troubled owner wishes for a railroad.

—Several of our citizens are talking of moving West and "growing up with the country," but the most who have moved have returned to old "Hoosier," so I begin to think we are about in the "center of the world," or would be if we had a railroad. I hope we won't always be cut off from the world and "the rest of mankind." We will "hope" if we die in despair; and we trust the dawn of Spring will resurrect the railroad spirit.

—Quite a stir just now with hog dealers looking for stock hogs.

—Our free schools are generally closing-out in this part of the country.

—But very little real estate is changing hands now. No buyers here.

—Our young folks are keeping up the matrimonial interest, and several have forsaken fathers and mothers, ceased to be twain, and become one flesh and blood, and several more are ambitious to follow the example, but are a little afraid to "pop the question," for fear of being met by "No." But the ladies are just as anxious, if the gentlemen only knew it.

More anon, OLD STANDBY.

COAL HILL ITEMS.

—Last Saturday was the first time the train made its appearance at Ferdinand Station.

—The revival meeting at Mt. Zion broke last Sunday, with a full attendance. Twenty conversions were made, and eighteen joined the church.

—A platform has been erected at Ferdinand Station, for the purpose of receiving freight until the depot is built.

—Among the names registered at the Enlow house last Monday, are those of T. H. Millington, T. E. Millington, Robert Cooper, J. H. White and Phillip Axton.

Suppositions.

Can any of you gentlemen tell what the "B" stands for in Susan B. Anthony's middle name.—St. Louis Republican.

We never knew a bee to stand for anything. They are always buzzing about, too busy to stand or sit.—Kumelsburg Remonstrator.

As the "B" is after Susan, perhaps it wants to extract honey from her lips.—Christian Observer.

But, as the "B" is before Anthony, what can it be for?—Continental Dam Builder's Organ.

Perhaps it is to mark Anthony.—Bungtown Banner.

If that "B" has been after Susan all her life, and if we knew the longevity of bees—but that may be going a little too far.—Harper's Bazar.

The "B" in question is in the imperative mood, and a command is uttered in this shape: Susan, be Anthony, and never be anything else.—Educational Journal.

Perhaps the "B" was intended to show her abeility to sing.—The Scotsman.

Why don't you go to the lady's grandmother and get the facts of the case?—Evangelist.

Katie King informs me that Susan's maiden name was Brown, and that she was once married to a Mr. Anthony, of Rome, who deserted her for a colored girl called Cleopatra.—Robert Dale Owen.

It is believed in Brooklyn that Theodore Tilton is responsible for that "B." When somebody told Susan to get up out of his lap, he remarked: Let Susan B!—Brooklyn Eagle.

It is an old saying, concerning a man who is flighty, that he has a bee in his bonnet; but this, of course, has nothing to do with the question.—Phrenological Record.

The Globe prints these opinions to show what vast amount of misinformation can exist concerning a simple matter. It is consoling to know that Susan B. will continue to be, long after these editorial bees have ceased to buzz. The "B" in her middle name, according to the inscription on the Moabite stone, stands for—but we can't think of it just at this minute.—St. Louis Globe.

We plant our feet on hard pan and say it stands for Bonanza.—Evansville Courier.

Brown or Bonanza you'll all wish the "B" had never been there if Susan B. gets after you. It will stand for Behave then with you.

School Examination.

And still they close, one by one, 'Till all the common schools are done. Ah! we might have been a poet Had we and mamma only known it.

Mr. James Waldrup of Mt. Zion, Harrison township, closed his term of school on the 23d day of Jan. 1875. This, like other last days of school, was one exceedingly interesting to the young folks (old ones too.) They had pleasant faces, and all seemed to enjoy themselves splendidly. The examination was thorough in every respect, and much to the commendation of the pupils, and demonstrating beyond a doubt that the services of Mr. Waldrup were not in vain. The vocal music given by the school was excellent, and listened to with interest by the visitors.

While all apparently is mirth in assemblies of this kind, there is a solemnity of feeling which, among the entire group, interrogates: will all meet again in another term of school? or will some one of the happy group be visited by death and borne to that clime from whence none ever returns?

At night a spelling contest was had, the entire school and others taking an active part, exhibiting quite an efficient skill in this branch of science.
